

VOGUE

punk palace

In the grand eighteenth-century London town house of Agent Provocateur's Serena Rees and Joe Corré, Hamish Bowles discovers the charm of a rebel elegance. Photographed by François Haland.

TREASURE ISLAND
For the Trophy Room of their West End town house, Serena Rees and Joe Corré commissioned Mark Jenkins at K2 to create wallpaper and fabrics inspired by Vivienne Westwood's 1981 Pirate collection. Stings Editor: Hamish Bowles.

Rule Britannia

In the Adam dining room, a Royal Portrait made of safety pins by artist Ann Carrington surveys chairs and a dining table designed by Denton Corker Marshall for Edra.